Particularly for the operation of the classes of credit, suretyship and legal expenses insurance, a special license is always required, except for cases relating to insurance of legal expenses for disputes resulting from or in connection with the use of sea-going vessels and this insurance may be considered as an ancillary risk according to what is provided in the previous section.

With regard to the activities of para. 2 article 13 hereof, the Minister of Commerce may restrict the license requested for a class of insurance, to the activities listed in the program of activity filed by the applicant undertaking in accordance with articles 15 para. 2 case B and para. 2 case B section e.

2. The license may not be granted if the operation of the undertaking conflicts with the provisions hereof or the interests of the insureds or the moral standards or public order. It may also not be granted if the identity of the shareholders or partners, direct or indirect, natural or legal, having a qualifying holding and the amount of such holding, has not been previously declared.

The license is not granted if the Ministry of Commerce, taking into account the need to secure the sound and prudent management of the insurance undertaking, has not been persuaded about the suitability of the aforesaid shareholders or partners.

In case of legal entities with a qualifying holding, the Ministry of Commerce may require to be informed about the identity of the natural persons controlling directly or indirectly the said legal entities.

Also in case the aforesaid legal persons have a holding in the insurance undertaking which thus becomes their subsidiary, the Ministry of Commerce may require to be informed about their assets (financial statements) in order to review their financial situation.

For better supervision of the identity of the natural persons controlling legal entities which have a qualifying holding in an insurance undertaking, the Ministry of Commerce may:

- i) impose on these legal entities the obligation to hold nominal shares with voting rights,
- ii) require that certain percentages of the total aforesaid nominal shares with voting rights belong to one or more natural persons previously approved by the Ministry of Commerce.

During the review of suitability of the above persons, the Ministry of Commerce collaborates with the supervising authorities of the other member states of the E.U. and the EEA or other authorities.

Ar. 2 par. 2

The Ministry of Development shall require financial undertakings to provide the information it requires to monitor compliance with the conditions referred to in the two previous sections of this paragraph on a continuous basis".

Every negative decision must be fully reasoned and must be communicated to the applicant within three months at the latest from the date the application was filed.

Ar. 21 par.2

"2a. In applying paragraph 2, the Ministry of Commerce will also request the opinion of the Competent Authorities of the said member-states, including those who are in charge of supervising credit institutions or investment enterprises, before granting a license to an insurance undertaking, which:

- a) is a subsidiary of an insurance undertaking with a license to operate in another member state or
- b) is a subsidiary of the parent insurance undertaking with a license to operate in another member state or

 f) is controlled by the same natural or legal person that controls a credit institution or an investment undertaking with a license to operate in the E.U.

3. The license granted to an insurance undertaking may be withdrawn in the cases provided for in this decree law, in the event of a sentence passed in accordance with articles 43 to 49, as well as if the conditions under which it was granted no longer exist or all kinds of obligations imposed herewith are seriously violated. Particularly with regard to the violations provided in article 44, the license granted to an insurance undertaking may be withdrawn, even if penal prosecution has not started, in case the interests of the insureds or the public order or the moral standards are jeopardized.
 4. A license of operation granted to an insurance undertaking for the exercise of a class of insurance may equally be withdrawn if operation has not started within twelve months from its issue. The same applies if the operation is discontinued in whole or in part, for a time extending six months.
 5. The Minister of Commerce may by reasoned resolution communicated to the interested insurance undertaking, partially or totally, definitively or temporarily revoke its license. The same applies in cases where the revocation is effected for reasons founded exclusively on legislation concerning Societes Anonymes and cooperatives.
 6. Thirty days after the revocation of the license of an insurance undertaking, all insurance contracts, with the exception of life insurance contracts, are deemed to have been cancelled ipso jure, provided that within the above deadline any application submitted by another insurance undertaking for the taking over its insurance portfolio has not been approved. Non matured premiums are reimbursed. Any lawful commissions paid are reimbursed or are claimed from the liquidator.
 7. Definitive revocation of the license of an insurance undertaking also implies the ipso jure revocation of its establishment license, which results in its dissolution.
 8. An insurance societe anonyme may be transformed in another commercial societe anonyme following a decision of the Minister of Commerce, published in the Official Gazette, if all its insurance contracts have expired and no lawsuits or claims are pending against it for insurance allowances (indemnity) or the transfer of all its insurance contracts has been approved according to article 59 hereof or another insurance undertaking operating legally in Greece undertakes all its insurance obligations. In such a case para. 7 of this article does not apply.

"14. Article 6b

L. 3455/06
Ar. 21 par.6

«1. The calculation of the adapted solvency of a participating insurance undertaking which has its head office in Greece, as provided in para. 11, is made as follows:

a) The following total is calculated:

- i. The data that can be selected, according to article 17a for the coverage of the solvency margin of the participating insurance undertaking and
- ii. The proportional share of the participating insurance undertaking in the data that can be selected, according to article 17a, for the coverage of the solvency margin of the related insurance undertaking.

b) The following total is calculated:

- i. the accounting value, contained in the books and financial statements of the participating insurance undertaking of the related insurance undertaking,
- ii. the obligatory solvency margin, according to article 17a, of the participating insurance undertaking and
- iii. the proportional share of the obligatory solvency margin, according to article 17a, of the related insurance undertaking.

c) The difference in total, calculated according to case b above, deducted from the total, which is calculated according to case a above, constitutes the amount of the adapted solvency of the participating insurance undertaking.

d) When the participation in the related insurance undertaking constitutes, in whole or in part, an indirect ownership, then item I of case b above includes the value of indirect ownership, taking into account the relevant successive interests. Items (ii) of case a above and (iii) of case b above include the corresponding shares of items that can be selected for the coverage of the solvency margin of the related insurance undertaking and the obligatory solvency margin of the related insurance undertaking, respectively."

«2. For the calculation stated in para. 1, the following apply:

L. 3455/06

a) Proportional share means the proportion of the subscribed capital of the related undertakings, which is held, directly or indirectly, by the participating insurance undertaking.

b) When it comes to a related insurance undertaking which is a subsidiary and has a solvency deficiency, the total solvency deficiency of the subsidiary is taken into account, that is, the total obligatory solvency margin of the subsidiary. In case, however, where the above subsidiary insurance undertaking also has another insurance undertaking as its subsidiary, then between the two last subsidiaries the principal of proportionality applies.

c) The following sums, provided they have not already been subtracted, are not taken into account:

- i. The value of any assets of the participating insurance undertaking, which represent the financing of items which can be selected for the coverage of the solvency margin of a related insurance undertaking.
- ii. The value of any assets of a related insurance undertaking, which represent the financing of items which can be selected for the coverage of the solvency margin of the participating insurance undertaking.
- iii. The value of any assets of an insurance undertaking related to the participating insurance undertaking, which represent the financing of items which can be selected for the coverage of the solvency margin of any other insurance undertaking related to the participating insurance undertaking.
- iv. Any subscribed other non-paid capital of the related undertaking, which constitutes a possible obligation on the part of the participating insurance undertaking.
- v. Any subscribed other non-paid capital of the participating insurance undertaking, which constitutes a possible obligation on the part of a related insurance undertaking.
- vi. Any subscribed other non paid capital of a related insurance undertaking, which constitutes a possible obligation on the part of another related insurance undertaking of the same participating insurance undertaking."

L. 3455/06

" d) When there are no capital ties between certain undertakings in an insurance group, the Ministry of Development determines which proportional share must be taken into account."

3. a) The calculation mentioned in para. 1 above, does not take into account items which can be selected for the coverage of the solvency margin and which result from mutual funding between the (participating) insurance undertaking and:
 - A related undertaking,
 - A participating undertaking,
 - Other related undertaking of any of the participating undertakings.
 - b) Furthermore, it does not take into account items that can be selected for the coverage of the solvency margin of a related insurance undertaking, when these items have resulted out of mutual funding with another undertaking related to the first (related) insurance undertaking.
 - c) More specifically, mutual funding exists when one insurance undertaking or any of its related undertakings, holds shares (holding) in or grants loans to another undertaking, which directly or indirectly holds an item which can be selected for the coverage of the solvency margin of the first undertaking.
4. In relation to insurance undertakings, reinsurance undertakings and intermediary insurance holding undertakings, which are related undertakings and are taken into account in the calculation of the adapted solvency of the participating insurance undertaking according to para. 1

- a) When the (participating) insurance undertaking has more than one related insurance undertakings, the calculation of the adapted solvency is effected with the incorporation of each one of these related insurance undertakings.
- b) In case of successive holdings, as when one insurance undertaking participates in another insurance undertaking, which also participates in another insurance undertaking, the calculation of adapted solvency is effected on the level of every participating insurance undertaking, which has at least one related insurance undertaking.
- c) i. Calculation of the adapted solvency of an insurance undertaking having its head office in Greece may not be effected:
 - If it is a related undertaking of another insurance undertaking having its head office in Greece and provided this related undertaking has been taken into account in the calculation of adapted solvency of the participating insurance undertaking.
 - If it is a related undertaking of an insurance holding undertaking or a reinsurance undertaking having its head office in Greece, and provided this insurance holding undertaking or reinsurance undertaking and the related insurance undertaking itself are taken into account in the calculation effected.
 - If it is a related undertaking of another insurance undertaking or reinsurance undertaking or insurance holding undertaking having its head office in another member state of the E.U. and the E.E.A., provided the Ministry of Development and the competent supervisory authority of the other member state agree to assign to the competent supervisory authority of the other member state the exercise of supplementary supervision.
- ii. In any one of the above cases, release may be given only if suitable proof is presented to the Ministry of Development that the data which can be selected for the coverage of the solvency margins of the insurance undertakings included in the calculation are appropriately distributed between these undertakings.
- d) In case where the (participating) insurance undertaking has a related insurance undertaking having its head office in another member state of the E.U. and the E.E.A., the calculation may take into account the state of solvency of the related insurance undertaking as it has been evaluated by the competent supervisory authority of the other member state.
- e) If the (participating) insurance undertaking has a related reinsurance undertaking having its head office in the E.U. and the E.E.A., then this related undertaking is treated, exclusively for the needs of calculation, in a manner similar to a related undertaking, the general principles and methods described in this article applying.

To that effect, a theoretical obligatory solvency margin is calculated for every related reinsurance undertaking based on the same rules provided in article 17a. However, in case of important difficulties in the application of these rules, the theoretical obligatory solvency margin may be calculated based on the first result provided in article 17a para. 6. The same elements, as those provided in article 17a, are recognized as elements that covering the theoretical solvency margin.

- f) When the (participating) insurance undertaking has a holding in an insurance undertaking or a reinsurance undertaking or a non-member state insurance undertaking through an insurance holding undertaking, the calculation takes into account the situation of the intermediate insurance holding undertaking. Exclusively for the needs of this calculation, which is effected according to the general principles and methods described in this article, the said insurance holding undertaking is considered as if it were an insurance undertaking with an obligatory solvency margin of zero and with elements selectable for the coverage of the solvency margin those provided for in article 17a.
 - g) i. When the (participating) insurance undertaking has a related insurance undertaking having its head office in a non-member state, this undertaking is considered, for the sole purpose of calculation, in a manner similar to that of a related insurance undertaking having its head office in the E.U. and the E.E.A.
 ii. However, when the non-member state, in which the related insurance undertaking has its head office, imposes on it the obligation of a licence as well as an obligation of a solvency state at least comparable to that provided in article 17a, then the said undertaking may be taken into account in the calculation based on the obligatory solvency margin and the selectable elements for its coverage, as determined by that non-member state.
 - h) Without prejudice to the provisions of section e above, when the (participating) insurance undertaking has a related reinsurance undertaking having its head office in a non-member country on the same conditions stated in point (ii) section g above, that undertaking may be taken into account in the calculation based on the obligatory solvency margin and the selectable elements covering this, as determined by the said non-member country. When only the insurance undertakings of the said non-member country are subject to these conditions, the theoretical obligatory solvency margin and selectable elements covering it may be considered as if the said undertaking was a related insurance undertaking of the non-member country.
5. For the implementation of this article, when in the calculation of the adapted solvency of the participating insurance undertaking no information exists for some reason, regarding a related undertaking which has its head office in the E.U. and the E.E.A. or a non-member country, the accounting value of the related undertaking recorded in the books and financial statements of the undertaking is subtracted from the selectable data for the coverage of the adapted solvency margin. In this case, the non-realized (liquidated) profits relating to this holding are not allowed as a selectable element in the coverage of the adapted solvency margin.

Article 6c

1. a. The calculation provided in article 6a (para. 12), which must be similar to that provided in article 6b, is effected on the level of the insurance holding undertaking, or the insurance undertaking having its head office in a non-member state.
 - b. The calculation proportion provided in section a above, consists of the general principles and methods provided for in article 6b, on the level of the insurance holding undertaking, the reinsurance undertaking or the insurance undertaking having its head office in a non-member state.
 - c. For the sole purpose of the above calculation, the parent undertaking, mentioned in sections a and b above, is considered an insurance undertaking subject to:
 - A zero obligatory margin of solvency, when it comes to an insurance holding undertaking.
 - A theoretical obligatory solvency margin, as provided for in article 6b (para. 4 section e), when it comes to a reinsurance undertaking having its head office in the E.U. and the E.E.A. or an obligatory solvency margin (theoretical or not) as provided in article 6b (para. 4 section h), when it comes to a reinsurance undertaking having its head office in a non-member state.
 - An obligatory solvency margin, as provided for in article 6b (para. 4 section g), when it comes to an insurance undertaking having its head office in a non-member state.
 - The same conditions as those set in article 17a, as regards the data selectable for the coverage of the solvency margin.
1. For the calculation stated in para. 1 above and generally for the supplementary method of supervision stated in article 6a (para. 12), the following apply:
 - a) In case there is an insurance undertaking having its head office in Greece and another insurance undertaking or other undertakings having their head office in the E.U. and the E.E.A. are subsidiaries of an insurance holding undertaking, a reinsurance undertaking or an insurance undertaking having its head office in a non-member state, the Ministry of Development together with the other competent supervisory authorities must ensure the consistent application of the method described in this article.
 - b) The calculation provided for in para. 1 above may not be effected for an insurance undertaking having its head office in Greece if:
 - It is a related undertaking of another insurance undertaking having its head office in the E.U. and the E.E.A. and included in the calculation provided for in para. 1 above for the other undertaking.
 - That and one or more insurance undertakings having their head office in Greece have as their parent undertaking the same insurance holding undertaking or insurance undertaking having its head office in a non-member state, and it has been taken into account in the calculation provided in para. 1 above for one of these other insurance undertakings

- If that and one or more other insurance undertakings having their head office in the E.U. and the E.E.A. have as their parent undertaking the same insurance holding undertaking, reinsurance undertaking or insurance undertaking having its head office in a non-member state, and an agreement has been concluded according to article 6a para. 5 with which the exercise of supplementary supervision of this article is assigned to the competent supervisory authority of another member state.
 - c) In case of successive holdings, as when one insurance holding undertaking or one reinsurance undertaking belongs to another insurance holding undertaking, reinsurance undertaking or insurance undertaking having its head office in a non-member state, the calculation provided for in para. 1 above, may be applied only on the level of the basic parent undertaking of the insurance undertaking having its head office in Greece, which is an insurance holding undertaking, a reinsurance undertaking or an insurance undertaking having its head office in a non-member state.
3. For the implementation of this article, article 6b (para. 5) is also taken into account.

A resolution of the Ministry of Commerce published in the Government Gazette may determine the conditions, time of application and mode of coverage of the above difference.

- d) Equalization provision: This is formed in addition to the technical reserves of items a,b,c, above at the closing of the financial statements in class 14 (Credits) with a view to counterbalance any technical loss or percentage of insurance indemnities higher than the average which shall result in this branch in any future financial year.
- e) Mathematical provision for increasing age: this is calculated in accordance with para. 2 case Bdi first sentence of this article and is formed when classes "Accidents" and/or 2 "Sickness" of art. 13 para. 1 of this decree law are managed in a way similar to the life class according to art. 17a of para. 7 of this decree law. 3. The technical reserves for total insurance risks are formed by direct insurers.
4. The technical reserves are covered by equivalent assets or assets expressed in the same currency.
 - A. For the application of the principle of monetary equivalence in case of insurances against loss or damage the following apply:
 - a) The commitments of the insurance undertaking are considered to be payable in the currency of the indemnity. If this is not determined, the commitments of the insurance undertaking are considered to be payable in the currency of the country in which the risk is situated or if the insurance undertaking so chooses, in the currency of the premiums provided such choice is duly reasoned. This may occur if, from the conclusion of the contract, it becomes possible that an insurance claim shall be payable not in the currency of the country in which the risk is situated but in the currency of the premiums.
 - b) In deviation from the previous paragraph, an insurance undertaking may pay the indemnity in the currency dictated by its experience or in the currency of the country of its establishment in case of:
 - insurance contracts covering risks of branches 4,5,6,7,11,12 and 13 (producers' civil liability only) of para. 1 "insurances against loss and damage " of art. 13 hereof, and
 - insurance contracts covering risks of the other branches of para.1 "insurances against loss and damage" of art. 13 hereof, provided this is dictated by the nature of the risks.
 - c) Despite the provisions of the previous para. a and b, after the rising of a recoverable claim, the indemnity is considered to be payable in the currency determined by court decision or in the currency agreed upon by the insured and the insurance undertaking. Also when the insurable loss is assessed in a currency known in advance by the insurance undertaking but which is different from the currency resulting from the application of the previous methods, the insurance undertaking may consider its commitments to be payable in that currency.

- d) An insurance undertaking is not obliged to cover with matching assets a percentage up to 20% of its commitments in a certain currency.
- e) An insurance undertaking is released from the obligation of equivalence of its liabilities in a currency, provided these do not exceed 7% of its liabilities in all the other currencies of the member states.

If the equivalence is required in drachmas, Irish pounds or Portuguese escudos, the amount exempted from the obligation cannot exceed 2 million ECU during the period ending on December 31 1998.

If the equivalence is required in Belgian Francs, in Luxembourg Francs, and in Spanish pesetas, the amount exempted cannot exceed 2 million ECU during the period ending on December 31 1996.

After the expiry of the transitional periods, the general status applies.

- f) The obligation for monetary equivalence, when the obligations are expressed in currencies of countries of the E.U. and the E.E.A., is deemed to have been satisfied when the assets are expressed in ECU.

Article 12a

P.D. 332/03
Ar. 8

1. In case a license of operation of an insurance undertaking is revoked due to a violation of the Law, as well as in every case of dissolution of the legal entity of the insurance undertaking, whose assets have been banned from free disposition, the stage of insurance liquidation follows.

The decision regarding the insurance liquidation that appoints the supervisor and determines the applicable law, is recorded in the Registry of insurance societies anonymes and a summary is published in the Government Gazette as well as in the Gazette of the European Communities. The decision for the revocation of the license of operation of an insurance undertaking with head office in another member state is recorded in the registry kept for this reason in the Ministry of Development, the content of which is determined with a Ministerial Decision.

During this stage and until completion of the liquidation, the insurance undertaking cannot be declared bankrupt.

2. Without prejudice to article 10 para. 7 hereof, in case of commencement of the liquidation procedure of an insurance undertaking, the recordings in the special registers of article 8 para. 2 hereof cannot be altered apart from corrections or technical errors, without a previous authorization by the Minister of Development.

By decision of the liquidator, the value of the premiums collected, as well as any other disposition of them, occurring after the commencement of the winding-up procedure and until its termination, is added by record in the special registers of article 8 para. 2 hereof.

If the product of the liquidation of the assets comprising the insurance investment is less than the value recorded in the special registers of article 8 para. 2 hereof, the liquidator and the liquidation supervisor justify this fact in writing to the Minister of Development.

3. The Minister for Commerce appoints and removes as supervisor of the insurance liquidation, a person with special knowledge and experience in matters of operation of insurance undertakings or credit Institutions. This decision also determines the remuneration of the supervisor. The supervisor submits within three days from the day his appointment is served on him, an application to the competent court for the appointment of a liquidator. Until the appointment of the liquidator, the supervisor carries out all the duties of the liquidator.

After the appointment of the liquidator, the supervisor follows up the partial works of the liquidation, gives his opinion if requested by the liquidator, on matters of liquidation, briefs in writing the Minister for Commerce about the procedure of the liquidation at least every two months, as well as anyone else who so requests, and submits a report after the termination of the insurance liquidation.

The supervisor may also intervene in court proceedings carried out by the liquidator. Eventual removal of the supervisor does not prejudice the authority of his actions during the carrying out of his duties.

4. In case of insurance liquidation, the liquidator is appointed according to the procedure of articles 739 etc. of the Code of Civil Procedure. Any contrary provisions of the statutes do not apply. The person appointed as liquidator is one with special knowledge and experience in matters of insurance undertakings or credit Institutes and is selected from a list of at least thirty persons set up and kept by the Ministry for Commerce following a proposal of the Committee for Private Insurance. The court must discuss the application within five days and take a decision the latest within 5 days. Suspension of the validity of the decision does not apply.

The same court decision determines the liquidator's fee.

A liquidator appointed as above, is entitled to exercise all the powers hereof in all member states. His appointment is evidenced with the submission of a certified copy of the original court decision appointing him. The liquidator may, with a special power of attorney previously authorized by the supervisor, appoint persons for the handling of matters that arise in another member state, if this is necessary, during the liquidation proceedings. In the exercise of its powers in another member state, the liquidator follows the law of that state and especially the procedures of liquidation of the assets and briefing of the employees. These powers do not include the right to use force or the right to take decisions over legal proceedings or disputes. Also the liquidator and every other duly authorized person, can request the recording of a decision regarding liquidation proceedings in the public books kept in other member states. The costs of acquisition are considered as costs and expenses of the procedure.

To verify the appointment of a liquidator of another member state, the needs to be submission of a certified copy of the original appointing decision or any other certificate issued by the competent authority of that member state translated into Greek language.

5. During the time the insurance undertaking is in liquidation, any compulsory execution pending against the undertaking or its insureds for civil liability, is suspended up to the amount for which the insurance undertaking is totally liable.

During that time, proceedings of the beneficiaries for indemnity against the insurance undertaking are also suspended.

6. By setting the undertaking in insurance liquidation, any pending law suits are carried on according to the procedure of interim measures on the initiative of the beneficiaries for indemnity or the supervisor for liquidation and the liquidator or Bankruptcy Supervisor and trustee. Pending differences involving legal proceedings of first degree are brought for discussion upon an application submitted by the individuals having the right to do so, in the One member Court of First Instance which sits at the place of the head office of the undertaking regardless of the amount involved.
7. The liquidator may conclude loan contracts with credit institutions with a view to pay off indemnities to beneficiaries. Claims from these loans enjoy the privilege of para. 1 of article 10.
8. A ten days' notice must be given to the competent Direction of the Ministry for Development in order to approval an application for bankruptcy regarding an insurance undertaking. The Secretary of the court which declares the bankruptcy communicates an extract of the relevant decision to the Ministry for Development within five days from its publication. The Minister for Development immediately appoints a supervisor (supervisor for bankruptcy), for whom the relevant provisions regarding supervisors of liquidation apply.
9. Fees and costs of the supervisor of a liquidation or bankruptcy and of the liquidator of the insurance liquidation, have a privilege which precedes any other general or special category, over all assets of the undertaking. Fees and costs of the trustee appointed for the liquidation of the insurance portfolio enjoy the same privilege.
10. Following an application submitted by the shareholders or partners representing more than 50% of the capital of the insurance undertaking, or by the liquidator or supervisor, the Minister for Development may, provided the liquidation of the insurance portfolio has been accomplished, announce the completion of the insurance liquidation. The liquidation of transactions other than those linked to the insurance portfolio, is carried on according to the provisions governing the liquidation of the legal entity of the undertaking (common liquidation).

Regardless from the act of declaring the undertaking in a state of insurance liquidation, the completion of matters pending, other than those linked to the insurance portfolio, is carried on according to provisions governing common liquidation.

11. Dissolution of the legal personality of the insurance undertaking, resulting from any cause other than bankruptcy and the reasons stated in para. 1, is communicated to the Ministry for Commerce. The Minister for Commerce may, by decision issued within fifteen days, declare the undertaking under insurance liquidation. Any expropriation of assets of the undertaking during the time from the dissolution of the legal entity until the issuing of the above decision or the expiry of the above deadline, is prohibited and void.
12. In any case of commencement of liquidation proceedings against an insurance undertaking, its license is revoked. The above revocation does not prevent the liquidator and any other person so authorized by the competent authorities, to continue certain of the insurance undertaking's activities, provided this is required or suggested for the needs of the liquidation, and has the consent and supervision of the Minister of Development.

13. The Minister for Development may bring an insurance undertaking already in common liquidation in the state of insurance liquidation.
14. The liquidator and the supervisor of liquidation are neither subjected to penal liability nor are they detained or held responsible for debts of the insurance undertaking towards the Public or social security carriers, regardless from the time these debts were ascertained. The time of their duty is fixed to two (2) years, which may be renewed.
15. Especially the portfolio of Motor vehicle liability insurance, already in insurance or common liquidation or bankruptcy, is jointly administered by other competent bodies and the Auxiliary Fund, provided in article 19 of Law 489/1976, which enters ipso jure into the liabilities and rights of the insurance undertaking.
16. With the commencement of the liquidation procedure, the liquidator immediately and personally notifies with a written note every known creditor that has a usual residence, home or head office in another member state.

The aforementioned note specifically states the deadlines, the penalties provided for the said deadlines, the body or authority that has been authorized to receive the announcement of claims or in relation to the claims, as well as the rest imposable measures. The note also states whether the creditors, whose claims are preferential or secured, have to announce their claims.

In case of claims from insurance the note also states the general effects of the liquidation proceedings on insurance contracts, especially the date from which the insurance contracts or acts cease to produce effects and the insured's rights and obligations regarding the policy or act.

Information in the note is expressed in Greek in a document bearing the title "invitation for the announcement of a claim - deadlines to be met" expressed in all official languages of the European Union. By exception, the information in the note is expressed in the official language of the state of the habitual residence, home, or head office of the creditor who is a beneficiary of indemnity.

17. The liquidator regularly and with the most suitable manner informs the creditor, especially with regard to the course of the liquidation.
18. The recording of the decision for liquidation in the Register of insurance societies anonymes, according to para. 1 hereof, the provisions according to para. 2 hereof regarding the special registers of article 8 para. 2, the appointment by the liquidator of other persons according to para. 4 hereof and the obligation to inform creditors according to paragraphs 16 and 17 hereof, also apply to common liquidation.

5. Article 15a

- P.D. 252/96
Ar. 18
1. a) Every natural or legal person, who wishes to acquire a qualifying holding in an insurance undertaking established and operating in Greece, proceeds to a prior notification of the Ministry for Commerce about such holding. The same obligation applies when the existing holding is increased so that the proportion of the voting rights or of the capital in possession of a person, including the cases which according to P.D. 51/1992 (A 22) are assimilated to possession of voting rights by the same person, reach or exceed the minimum limits of 20%, 33% or 50% of the total voting rights or of the capital or if the insurance undertaking becomes a subsidiary of the participating person.

With regard to holdings materialized by legal entities, the Ministry for Commerce has the right:

- (i) to ask information about the identity of the natural persons which directly or indirectly control these legal entities,
- (ii) imposes the obligation to be informed about any subsequent modification in the identity of these natural persons and
- (iii) ask the communication of the financial particulars (financial accounts), whenever they render the insurance undertaking their subsidiary for the control of their financial position, which may be requested even subsequently.

For the meaning of control, item (i) of art 2a of this decree law applies.

For the more efficient inspection of the identity of natural persons controlling legal entities possessing a qualifying holding in insurance undertakings, the Ministry for Commerce may:

- i) impose the obligation on these legal entities to have registered shares with a voting share.
- ii) demand that concrete percentages of the total of the above registered shares with voting rights belong to one or more natural persons, which have previously been awarded approval of the Ministry for Commerce. Within three months from the above notification, the Ministry for Commerce is obliged either to approve the holding or to reject it, justifying such a decision, if it considers that the persons materializing the holding, including the natural person controlling the participating natural persons, are not appropriate to ensure sound and prudent management of the insurance undertaking. The approval of the Ministry for Commerce may determine a maximum period for the materialization of the holding.

Within the above period the Ministry for Commerce has the right to carry out inquiries about the suitability or the verification of suitability of the above persons. In this respect, the Ministry for Commerce collaborates with the supervising authorities of the other member states of the E.U. and E.E.C. or other competent authorities.

In case of death of a possessor of a qualifying holding, the above obligation for notification by his heirs may be realized within a period of four (4) months from the date of death of the possessor of a qualifying holding. Within three months from the notification, the Ministry for Commerce may, if it considers that the heirs are not appropriate to ensure sound and prudent management of the insurance undertaking, impose the penalties provided in para. 5b of this article.

- b) Apart from the obligations mentioned in item (a) of this paragraph, the possessors of a qualifying holding of an insurance undertaking must notify in advance the Ministry for Commerce about every increase in their participation, which exceeds by an amount corresponding to two (2) percent of the share capital of the insurance undertaking, the participation which has been previously notified.

This obligation stands until total participation reaches the limit of 33%.

L. 3455/06
Ar. 21 par.9

- «1a. In applying para. 1, if the buyer of a holding is an insurance undertaking, credit institution or investment firm with a license to operate in another member state or parent undertaking of such an undertaking or the legal or natural person controlling this undertaking, and if, due to this buy-out, the undertaking, in which the buyer intends to acquire a holding, is rendered a subsidiary of the said buyer or falls under his control, the evaluation of the buy-out is subject to the procedure of consultation provided in para. 2a of article 3."

- 2. a) The Ministry for Commerce informs the Commission of the European Union about:

- i) every operation license granted to an insurance undertaking which is directly or indirectly a subsidiary of one or more parent undertakings ruled by the legislation of a third country,
- ii) the participation of a parent undertaking of this kind in an insurance undertaking established and operating in Greece, which in this way becomes its subsidiary,
- iii) the structure of the group of undertakings, whenever an operation license is granted to an insurance undertaking which directly or indirectly is a subsidiary of one or more parent undertakings ruled by the law of a third country,
- iv) the general difficulties which Greek insurance undertakings encounter upon their establishment or pursuit of activities in a third country.

- b) Whenever the competent bodies of the European Union have decided to limit or temporarily suspend applications relating to the cases of previous item a, the Ministry for Commerce refrains from taking any decision for as long as the competent bodies of the European Union have decided the relevant suspension or restriction in all member states of the E.U. and of the E.E.C. The said restriction or suspension does not apply to the formation of subsidiary insurance undertakings in Greece by insurance undertakings or their subsidiaries which have been granted a license to operate in the E.U. and the E.E.C, nor to the acquisition of holdings by such an undertaking or its subsidiary in an insurance undertaking established and operating in Greece. The Ministry for Commerce also notifies the Committee of the European Union, following a request, about the above applications.

- c) Without prejudice to the obligations resulting from international agreements of the E.U. with third countries which govern the formation activity of insurance undertakings, it remains at the discretion of the Ministry for Commerce to oppose the materialization of holdings in insurance undertakings established and operating in Greece, by natural persons residing outside E.U. and E.E.C. or by legal entities governed by the legislation of a third country.
3. Every natural or legal person intending to cease possession directly or indirectly of a qualifying holding in an insurance undertaking, must notify in advance the Ministry for Commerce and communicate to it the amount of participation that he intends to maintain. Every natural or legal person must also inform the Ministry for Commerce in case it intends to reduce its qualifying holding, so that the proportion of voting rights or capital shares held by him falls below the minimum limits of 20% 33% or 50% or if the insurance undertaking stops being its subsidiary. The obligation for notification also extends also to natural persons which stop controlling legal entities disposing a qualifying holding in an insurance undertaking.
 4. Insurance undertakings notify the Ministry for Commerce, as soon as it comes to their knowledge, of the acquisitions or cessions of holdings in their capital, which increase or reduce the percentages of holding over or below one of the lowest limits mentioned in para. 1 and 3. They also notify, until July 15 of every year, the names of shareholders with qualifying holdings, as well as the amounts and percentages of such holdings, which result particularly from elements gathered during the annual general meeting of the shareholders or from information coming to their knowledge, on the grounds of obligations imposed to companies, the shares of which are quoted in the stock Exchange.
 5. In case a qualifying holding is materialized or the existing qualifying holding is increased beyond the limits provided under para. 1a, either without being notified in advance to the Ministry for Commerce or without approval of its materialization, the exercise of voting rights resulting from such holding, ceases to have effect. Additionally, the Ministry for Commerce may decide to impose to the possessors of qualifying holdings, the following penalties jointly or severally:
 - a) Penalty in favour of the Greek Public up to a percentage of 10% of the value of shares transferred, without following the provisions of para. 1 of this article.
 - b) Debarring of these persons from the Board of Directors of the insurance undertaking as well as from any managerial post within the insurance undertaking for a definite or indefinite time, whenever natural persons are involved.

In case of non-notification to the Ministry for Commerce of the change of identity of the natural person controlling a legal person with a qualifying holding in an insurance undertaking, the exercise of voting rights resulting from the holding of the legal person ceases to have effect ipso jure, while to the natural person the Ministry for Commerce may impose the penalty of above section b. The same penalties may be imposed to persons failing to comply with the obligations provided in para. 1a sixth section of this article.

6. To persons failing to comply with the obligation of notification on the basis of para. 3 of this article, the Ministry for Commerce may impose a penalty in favour of the Greek Public which may amount up to a percentage of 5% of the value of shares transferred without prior notification.
7. The Ministry for Commerce takes the appropriate measures in order to prevent the exercise, by a natural person disposing a qualifying holding or controlling directly or indirectly a legal person disposing a qualifying holding in an insurance undertaking established and operating in Greece, of influence which may jeopardize the sound and prudent management of the insurance undertaking. For the application of these provisions, the Ministry for Commerce communicates to the persons concerned their particular actions or omissions or their parallel activities in other fields, which according to its consideration may jeopardize the sound and prudent management of this insurance undertaking and after listening to their opinions, it indicates to them the appropriate corrective measures to be taken within a certain period. In case of non-compliance, the Ministry for Commerce has the right to take the necessary measures to put an end to the adverse influence which the natural persons exercise in the administration of the insurance undertaking and particularly:
 - a) to order their elimination from the Board of Directors of the insurance undertaking and from any other managerial post in the insurance undertaking,
 - b) to suspend, until the circumstances which imposed the taking of certain measures are eliminated, the exercise of voting rights, resulting from the shares possessed by these persons or the legal entities they control,
 - c) to forbid any new transaction of the insurance undertaking with these persons or with any legal entity controlled by them as well as to declare as matured and immediately due the loans granted to all the aforesaid persons by the insurance undertaking.
8. The decisions of the Ministry for Commerce according to this article are recorded in the Register of Insurance Societies Anonymes. The negative decisions with which penalties are imposed according to this article, are subject to invalidation control before the Council of State.

1. a) The initial capital of every Greek insurance society anonyme or the initial contributions of the members of a Greek mutual insurance cooperative of article 35 (para. 1 and 4) hereof, fully paid during the formation of the company or in the formation of the cooperative, cannot be less, per class of insurance, than the amounts set in article 17b (paras. 2 and 3).
- b) Two thirds (2/3) of the above initial share capital or of the above initial contributions must be paid in cash.

Article 17a

1. Every insurance undertaking with head office in Greece is obliged to form and constantly keep a sufficient available solvency margin equivalent to the total of its activities, which corresponds to its assets, free of any obligation capable of being predicted, without including its intangible assets.

2. Whenever for the calculations of the required solvency margin premiums (contributions) are used, any sum of the gross subscribed premiums or contributions (items kb and kg of article 2a), as calculated below, and of the gross earned premiums or contributions (items kd and kg of article 2a) άρθρου 2α) is used, whichever is the larger.

The premiums or contributions of classes 11,12 and 13 of paragraph 1A article 13 are increased by 50%.

3. For activities of insurance against loss or damage, the necessary solvency margin is calculated in relation either to the annual amount of premiums or mutual contributions or to the average charge of insurance indemnifications of the last three financial years or, in case of undertakings which cover basically only one or more of the risks of storm, hail or frost, of the last seven financial years taking as necessary solvency margin the highest of the above two results, without prejudice to article 17b.

i) The elements comprising the available solvency margin are:

- a) The paid-up share capital or in the case of mutual insurance cooperatives, the mutual insurance sum initially paid up.
- b) The reserves (legal and free) that do not correspond to insurance obligations.
- c) The profits or losses carried forward to the next financial year, after deduction of dividends payable.

The available solvency margin is reduced according to the amount of own shares possessed directly by the insurance undertaking.

ii) The available solvency margin can also be constituted by the following:

- a) The cumulative share capital, when the articles of association provide a privilege in favour of privileged shareholders for the return of either the nominal value of shares or the difference between the issue of shares in favour of par, before satisfaction of company creditors, in the liquidation stage, as well as the subordinated loan capital, which can be included only up to a percentage of 50% of the lesser sum between the available solvency margin and the required solvency margin. Also they cannot exceed 25% of the lesser amount between the available solvency margin and the required solvency margin, both the subordinated loan capitals of set duration and the privileged cumulative share capital with set duration. The above can be accepted provided at least the following criteria are met:
 - In the event of bankruptcy or liquidation of an insurance undertaking, there should be binding agreements on the basis of which the subordinated loan capital or the preferential share capital is classified after the claims of all other creditors and paid only after paying up all the other debts pending at the time.

The subordinated loan capital must fulfill the following additional conditions:

- It must have been approved by the Ministry of Development.

To give the approval it needs:

- 1) submission of the loan agreement draft,
- 2) a plan of payment for each loan, the good keeping of which is monitored every year by the Actuaries, who are obliged to file a certification, by the end of May of every year, to the competent supervisory authority, which must contain the names of the creditors with the sum they received for the payment of the loan, the sums they received for interests and the remaining balance of the loan. In case the Actuaries do not file this certification to the competent supervisory authority, the subordinated loan capital is not taken into account as an element of the solvency margin and
- 3) deposit of the loan amounts in a certain account of one bank only, which has been opened by the insurance undertaking only for the purposes of the loan. The deposits for the loan must be made within a certain time period, which is determined and stated in the application of the undertaking and cannot exceed two months. The withdrawal of any sum from this account before the end of the time period set is forbidden. In the end of the period the bank issues a statement with the names of the creditors and the sums of each loan. This statement is submitted to the competent supervisory authority of the Ministry of Development. In case of non-submission of the statement the approval is not granted,
 - it must not originate from subsidiary undertakings or undertakings controlled by the insurance undertaking. In case these loans originate from insurance businesses not related to the issuing insurance undertaking (directly or indirectly), they cannot constitute an investment of technical reserves or an element of the solvency margin for these undertakings. The above loans are analyzed in the annex of the financial statements per creditor.
 - they should only take account of the sums actually paid,
 - the initial duration of the loans, with fixed maturity, must be at least five years. No latter than a year before maturity, the insurance undertaking submits to the Ministry of Development for approval, a plan setting how the available solvency margin will be maintained or increased to the desirable level on expiry, unless the amount up to which the loan can be included in the components of the available solvency margin, is gradually reduced at least in the final five years before maturity. The Ministry of Development may allow the early payment of this sum, provided the relevant application is submitted by the issuing insurance undertaking and the available solvency margin is not lower than the required level,
 - loans of unfixed maturity are paid only with a five-year warning, unless they are not any more considered as a component of the available solvency margin, or if a previous decision of the Minister of Development is required for their early repayment. In this last case, the insurance undertaking notifies the Ministry of Development at least six months before the suggested date of repayment, indicating the available solvency margin of the insurance undertaking before and after that repayment. The Ministry of Development allows the repayment only if the available margin of the insurance undertaking does not risk being less than the required level.,

- the loan agreement must not include clauses providing that, in certain cases, apart from the liquidation of the insurance undertaking, the debt becomes due before the agreed repayment date,
- the loan agreement may be amended only after the Ministry of Development declares that it does not oppose the amendment.

- b) Subordinated bond loans, when issued through a public subscription, according to article 8a of L. 2190/1920, up to 50% of the lesser sum between the available solvency margin and the required solvency margin for these loans, subordinated loans and accumulative privileged share capital of the previous case. Subsidiaries or undertakings controlled by insurance undertakings cannot acquire bonds at their issue (public subscription). The amount of the bond loans constituting a component of the solvency margin is mentioned in the annex of the financial statements.

The Committee of capital market collaborates with the Ministry for Commerce in case of issue of bond loans which are to constitute a component of solvency margin. Bond loans must also fulfill the following conditions:

- they may not be repaid on the initiative of the bearer without the prior consent of the Ministry for Development,
- the contract of issue of securities must enable the insurance undertaking to postpone the payment of loan interests,
- the claims of the lender against the insurance undertaking must rank after the claims of all other non-subordinated creditors,
- The documents relevant to the issue of the securities must provide the possibility of absorbing losses from the debt and the non-payment of interests while enabling the insurance undertaking to continue its business,
- Only the amounts actually paid are taken into account.

The equalization reserve of art. 7 para.2Ad of this decree law, up to the amount it has not been calculated, is not taken into account for the calculation of the solvency margin.

- iii) Following a reasoned application of the insurance undertaking and after the relevant approval by the Ministry of Development, the available solvency margin may comprise of :

- a) half the unpaid share or initial capital, provided the paid part equals 25% of the share or initial capital, up until 50% of the lesser sum between the available solvency margin and the required solvency margin,
- b) supplementary premiums that may be required from mutual insurance cooperatives that have variable premiums for the particular financial year up to half the difference between maximum premiums that can be requested and those actually requested.

These claims cannot represent a sum greater than 50% of the lesser sum between the available solvency margin and the required solvency margin.

A decision of the Minister of Development determines the conditions according to which supplementary premiums are accepted.

- c) Overvalues resulting due to underestimation of assets, provided they are not due to exceptional circumstances.
4. With regard to activities of life assurance, the necessary solvency margin is determined in relation to classes operated, according to what is provided in para. 9 below. In the calculations of the necessary solvency margin, for activities of life assurance, the term "risk capital" shall deem to be the amount payable in case of death minus the mathematical reserve of the total risk insured.

Also whenever mathematical reserves are used for the calculation of the necessary solvency margin, deferred acquisition costs calculated on an actuarial basis according to the provisions of element (ic) of para.5 of-art. 8 of this decree law, are taken into account.

The elements forming up the solvency margin are:

- a) The assets of the undertaking free of any foreseeable liabilities less any intangible items, comprising mainly what is provided in para.3 section i of this article.
- b) A percentage of up to 25% of the profits from reserves which are shown in the balance sheet and provided they can be used to cover eventual losses and for which have not been decided to be disposed for distribution to the insureds.
- c) The items provided in para. 3 section ii of this article.
- d) After a justified application of the undertaking concerned and provided the competent Service of the Ministry for Development consents to that end:
 - i) out of the assets of para. 3 item iii) point a) of this article.
 - ii) $\frac{1}{2}$ of the undertaking's future profits, without however exceeding 25% of the lesser sum between the available solvency margin and the required. The sum of future profits results from the multiplication of the estimated annual profit with a factor representing the average remaining duration of the contracts. This factor cannot be greater than 6.

The estimated annual profit does not exceed the numerical average of profits made by the undertaking in the last five years from the operation of life assurance. The Ministry may allow this sum do be included in the available solvency margin, until 31.12.2009, only if:

- An actuarial study is submitted which analyses the possibility of these profits appearing in the future and

- The part of future profits resulting from the overvalues mentioned in point iii) below, has not been taken into account.

The bases for finding the factor and the elements included in the profits made will be determined by a decision of the Ministry of Development.

- iii) The overvalues resulting due to underestimation of assets, provided they are not due to exceptional circumstances, and under the condition that, for securities not introduced in the stock market, the undertaking has officially published financial statements certified by an auditor.

5. For the calculation of the overvalue of real property and securities, which may constitute a component of the solvency margin, the current value is considered to be, as to real property, the value as determined in article 8 para. 5 item a) and c) of this law decree, while for securities, the one resulting according to the values mentioned in the annex of the financial statements or in other statements officially submitted to the Ministry of Development.
6. Under the reservation or the provisions of article 17b, the required solvency margin for the operation of insurance against loss or damage is set as equal to the highest of the following results:

First result (premium basis):

The aggregated sum :

(a) of the premiums or of the mutual insurance contributions, comprising even the consequential rights realized over the last closed financial year from activities of direct insurance and

(b) the amount of reinsurance premium accepted over the last financial year. From this addition is deducted the amount of premiums or mutual, insurance contributions cancelled in the last financial year and the amount of taxes, charges and contributions corresponding to the above premiums reinsurance or contributions.

The amount so obtained is divided into two portions of which one corresponds to an amount not exceeding 50 million euros and the other to the excess of that amount. After this division a percentage of 18% is taken from the first part and 16% from the second, which are added together.

The first result shall be obtained by multiplying the above sum by the ratio of the last three financial years between the amount of claims remaining to be borne by the insurance undertaking after deduction of transfers for reinsurance and the gross amount of claims. This ratio may in no case be less than 50%.

Second result (claims basis):

The aggregated sum:

(a) of the amounts of claims paid for the direct insurances during the last three financial years or of the last seven financial years in case of undertaking exercising basically only one or more of the classes of storm, hail or frost (without any deduction of claims borne by cessionaires or retrocessionaires,

(b) of the amount of claims paid during the same periods due to acceptance of reinsurances or retrocession and

(c) of the amount of the provisions at the end of the financial year for outstanding claims both for direct insurance and reinsurance acceptances. From this sum shall be deducted:

(a) the amount of claims against third parties collected by subrogation of the undertaking to the insureds' rights during the last three financial years, while in case of undertakings pursuing basically only one or more of the branches of storm, hail or frost of the last seven financial years and

(b) the amount of provisions or reserves established at the beginning of the second financial year preceding the last financial year for which there are accounts for outstanding claims both for direct insurance and reinsurance acceptances. In case where the period of report is equal to seven years, the sum of the provisions of pending claims made in the beginning of the sixth financial year of the period preceding the last closed financial year, will be taken into account.

The above sums for classes 11,12 and 13 of article 13 para. 1A are increased by 50%.

For the class of Assistance, insurance indemnity is the expenditure made for the undertaking for the particular assistance offered.

After the above, the annual average claims charge of the last three financial years is found or that of the seven last financial years, with regard to undertakings basically pursuing only one or more of the classes of credit, storm, hail or frost.

The amount resulting is divided into two parts:

The first part reaches up to the amount corresponding to 35 million euros and the second includes the difference, while a percentage of 26% is taken by the first part and a percentage of 23% is taken by the second, which are added together.

The second shall be obtained by multiplying the above sum by the ratio of the last financial year between the amount of the insurance claims remaining to be borne by the insurance undertaking, after deduction of the reinsurance cessions and of the amount of the gross amount of claims. This ratio may in no case be less than 50%.

7. In case where the required solvency margin of the audited financial year, as calculated in para. 6, is less than the required solvency margin of the previous financial year, then the required solvency margin of the audited financial year must be at least equal to the required solvency margin of the previous year multiplied by the ratio of the sum of provision for pending damages at the expiry of the last financial year and the sum of provision for pending damages at the start of the last financial year. In these calculations, technical reserves are calculated without reinsurance however, the ratio must never exceed number 1.

8. The percentages taken from the sections of the above para. 6 are reduced to 1/3 for the insurances of health (branches 1 and 2 of para. 1 of art. 13 hereof) subjected to administration similar to life assurance, if:
 - a) The premiums collected are calculated on the basis of tables of sickness according to the mathematical methods applying in the insurance.
 - b) A mathematical reserve for old age (age progress) is set up.
 - c) The necessary amount for additional premium is collected for the setting up of an amount (margin) of security.
 - d) The insurer cannot give notice of cancellation for the contract, earlier than the date of termination of the third year of insurance, at latest.
 - e) The insurance contract provides the possibility of increase of premiums or reduction of allowances, even for the valid contracts.
9. Without prejudice to the provisions of article 17b, the required solvency margin for the operations of life assurance is set as follows:
 - a) For classes and risks I.1, I.2, II and IX the required solvency margin must be equal to the aggregated sum of the following two results:

First result. This is calculated as follows:

A 4% fraction of the mathematical provisions concerning direct insurances (gross of reinsurance cessions) and reinsurance acceptances, is multiplied by the ratio, for the last financial year, of the total of mathematical provisions (net of the reinsurance cessions) in relation to the gross total mathematical provisions gross of the reinsurance cessions. This ratio may in no case be less than 85%.

Second result. This is calculated as follows:

For policies on which the capital at risk is not negative, a 0,3% fraction of such capital underwritten by the undertaking is multiplied by the ratio for the last financial year of the capital at risk retained as the undertaking's liability after deducting reinsurance cessions and retrocessions to the total capital at risk gross of reinsurances. This ratio, cannot in any case be less than 50%.

For temporary insurances on death for a maximum term of three years, the above fraction shall be of 0,1%. For such assurance of a term of more than three but not more than five years the above fraction shall be of 0,15%.

- b) For supplementary insurance (1.3), the necessary solvency margin is equal to the result of the following calculations.
- c) For classes III, VII and VIII, the required solvency margin equals the aggregated sum of:
 - i) a 4% fraction of the mathematical provisions which are calculated according to the conditions of section a of this paragraph first result, provided the undertaking is bearing an investment risk and a 1 % fraction of the provisions which are calculated in the same way , provided the undertaking is not bearing any investment risk and on condition that the term of the contract exceeds 5 years and the allocation to cover the general costs set out in the contract is fixed for a period

- exceeding five years and
 - ii) a 0.3% fraction of the capital at risk which is calculated according to the conditions of section (a) of this paragraph, second result, provided the undertaking covers a death risk.
 - iii) 25% of net administrative costs of the last financial year, relating to these operations, provided the undertaking does not bear investment risks and on the condition that the sum destined to cover the administrative costs is not determined for a period greater than five years.
 - d) For the classes VI (capitalization) and IV 1 (Permanent health insurance), the solvency margin is equal to 4% of the mathematical provisions which are calculated according to the conditions stated in section a, first result of this paragraph.
 - e) For the class V (tontines) the solvency margin is equal to 1% of their assets.
 - f) For the class IV2 the solvency margin is calculated according to paras. 6 and 7 of this article.
- 10. A decision of the Minister for Commerce defines the content of the annual report of the solvency margin to be submitted by the insurance undertakings.
- 11. Whenever in this article mention is made of the phrase "of the lesser sum between the available solvency margin and the required", the "available solvency margin" will be the available solvency margin comprised of elements a,b and c of para. 3 I as well as element c of paragraph iii for insurance against loss or damage, and elements a,b, of para. 4 and item d iii of para. 4 for life assurance."

Article 17c

P.D. 23/05
Ar. 6

1. The Ministry for Commerce, in order to ascertain the observance by the insurance undertakings of the provisions hereof concerning the solvency margin and the guarantee fund, must carry out a control of their financial situation at least once a year.

For class 18 (Assistance) the control deals also with the qualifications of the staff including the medical, as well as with the quality of the equipment disposed by the undertakings in order to meet the obligations imposed by this class.

The above control is carried out in close collaboration with the competent Services of the relevant Ministries.

To that effect, the Ministry of Development may require any element or carry out on-the-spot investigations at the undertaking's premises.

Every insurance undertaking is obliged to publish and submit to the Ministry of Development, every six months, brief financial statements. Especially during the three first financial years, this obligation is per quarter, in order to review its financial state, in combination to the submitted plan of activities. Until the submission of the data for technical reserves and solvency margin of the first official closed (audited) year, the insurance undertaking is obliged, per quarter, to possess the necessary assets in an insurance investment, according to article 8 hereof. A decision of the Minister of Development determines the content of the brief financial statements.

Insurance undertakings are obliged by January 31st of each year to submit the actual production of gross registered premiums (premiums from direct insurance, withdrawals and contract rights) of the previous year per class of insurance.

2. For Greek insurance undertakings already operating, the blocking of the assets disposed or having been disposed in insurance deposit is removed and is transformed, by disposal of those assets in insurance deposit by decision of the Ministry for Commerce, which is issued after application of the insurance undertaking accompanied by documents evidencing that the undertaking has complied with the provisions of articles 7,8,17a and 17b, hereof.
3. In case the Ministry of Development deems that the rights of policy holders are at risk or that the undertaking cannot cover its obligations due to a deterioration of its financial state, it proceeds to the following actions:
 - a) it requires the undertaking to implement a plan of financial recovery, which is submitted within 2 months and includes at least for the following three financial years the following:
 - Provisions regarding administration costs, current general expenses and supplies,
 - Provisions for technical reserves based on the insurance undertaking's previous experience,
 - A plan which depicts clearly the provisions for income and expenses for direct insurance activities and reinsurance acceptances as well as reinsurance concessions,
 - Drafting of financial statements for the anticipated three years, taking as commencement date the last official closed financial year,
 - The likely cash flow,
 - The provisions regarding the financial means destined to cover the technical reserves and the required solvency margin,
 - The policy in the field of reinsurance per class of insurance taking into account the risks involved.
 - b) it requires an increased solvency margin, which is determined based on the relevant facts stated in the plan of financial recovery, so as to ensure that the insurance undertaking can comply, within a short period of time, with the requirements of the solvency margin.

To the undertakings asked to submit a plan of financial recovery the Ministry of Development does not issue relevant certificates in order for them to operate in another member state, through a branch or through free supply of services or to undertake a relevant portfolio. In case where they already operate in another member state with a branch or with the free supply of services, they cease this operation, until completion of the three-year plan. Also, it can restrict or prohibit the free disposition of all or part of the assets of the insurance undertaking according to article 9 para. 2 and 3 hereof and to take any necessary measure to secure the interest of the insureds.

4. If the available solvency margin of an insurance undertaking is less than the amount calculated according to article 17a, the latter is obliged to file for approval with the Ministry of Development a plan of financial restoration.

In exceptional cases, if the Ministry for Commerce is of the opinion that the financial situation of the undertaking will deteriorate further, it may restrict or prohibit the free disposal of the total or part of the undertaking's assets according to art.9 para. 2 and 3 hereof and take any other appropriate measure to safeguard the interests of insured persons.

5. If the available solvency margin is lower than the guarantee fund, which the undertaking must dispose, or the relevant guarantee fund is not formed according to the provisions of art. 17b hereof, the insurance undertaking is obliged to submit to the Ministry for Commerce for approval a plan of short-term finance scheme to complete such deficiency.

Pending such completion the Ministry for Commerce may prohibit the free disposal of all or part of the undertaking's assets according to art. 9 paras 2 and 3 hereof and take any other appropriate measure to safeguard the interests of insured persons.

6. The Minister of Development may revoke the relevant operation license for all classes operated by it, if the insurance undertaking does not comply within the deadline set with the reorganization measures, short-term financing and financial recovery, according to the above paragraphs 3,4 and 5 hereof.

The Ministry of Development immediately notifies the supervisory authorities of all the other member states about the submission of a financial restoration plan, short-term finance plan or financial recovery plan, in application of the above paragraphs 3,4 and 5 as well as for any likely practical effects of these measures.

7. The Ministry of Development proceeds to a re-evaluation and decrease of the value of the elements taken into account for the calculation of the available solvency margin, when there is a change in the value of these elements since the expiry of the last financial year.

It also restricts the decreased based on reinsurance in the calculation of the required solvency margin as set in paras. 6,8 and 9 of article 17a provided,

- The nature and quality of the reinsurance contracts significantly changed since the last financial year and
- In the context of reinsurance contracts, the transfer of risk is inexistent or immaterial.

8. The annual solvency margin report is submitted to the Ministry of Development by June 30 of every year. The review of calculation and formation of the solvency margin, the submission and approval of plans of reorganization or short-term financing and the taking of other measures must be concluded by October 31 of every year. In case where during the closing of the financial statements it seems that the insurance undertaking does not cover the solvency margin or the minimum guarantee capital, then it is obliged by June 30 the latest to submit a plan of financial restoration or a short-term financing plan, respectively.

In the reorganization and short-term financing plans, no deadlines exceeding 2 months are set.

Article 18

2. This obligation is no longer compulsory if the reserve exceeds the fourfold of the share capital.
